InterNoded Mobile Device Manager (IMDM) for Small Business enables small and medium business organizations with between 50 and 1,000 users to address a critical challenge: how to take advantage of vital mobile solutions without purchasing an expensive in-house messaging infrastructure.

IMDM for Small Business provides your organization with an enterprise-class messaging and wireless service for a low monthly per-use cost that can scale as your business grows. You choose the wireless devices and service plan that best meets your requirements, then InterNoded hosts Microsoft Exchange e-mail—with your own domain, protecting and leveraging your business's unique brand.

With IMDM for Small Business, you get the scalability, reliability, performance, and security of a large enterprise system without significant capital expenses. Your users benefit from anytime, anywhere access to enterprise-class personal information management functionality, improving communication and productivity. Plus, a self-service user portal means your users can manage their devices on demand—without your intervention.

On-Demand Solutions

InterNoded Mobile Device Manager for Small Business is easily implemented as a hosted solution. For a monthly fee, you receive an e-mail address that uses your organization's domain, hosting of your Microsoft Exchange e-mail boxes, and support of your e-mail and wireless e-mail usage.
